

Career Services Internship Testimonial

Jacob Bear

JCU Study Abroad Student from Marquette University

Internship at: Nestle' Italia in Milan – Spring 2010

My experience at John Cabot was very rewarding- on multiple levels. Not only was I able to study at a school in the heart of Rome and travel to different parts of Italy and Europe on the weekends, but I was also able to work as an intern at Nestle Italy in Milan. This internship was pretty unique in that I was able to travel up to Milan about every other week for Thursday and/or Friday and then work remotely in Rome the rest of the time. I learned a lot about Italian culture through my interaction in the Nestle workplace. I was even invited to a co-workers home one weekend to have dinner with his family. Also, it was a great lesson in time management in that I had to fulfill my work and school duties before being able to travel for fun. I owe a lot to the Career Services Center at John Cabot for making this process as painless as possible. Overall, I learned a lot of valuable lessons and shared some unforgettable memories while working in Milan and studying at John Cabot. An internship abroad would not only help your resume, but give you an international point of view on the business world and allow you to meet some great people and familiarize yourself with different cultures. For these reasons and many more, I would urge students at John Cabot to explore the internship possibilities at the JCU Career Services Center while studying abroad; it certainly adds a new dynamic to your experience.
