

Advanced Placement® Summer Institute for AP® European History Teachers
John Cabot University, Rome, Italy

Program Dates: June 26-30, 2017

Course Description

AP European History teachers are invited to John Cabot University's campus in the heart of Rome for a unique AP* Summer Institute. This AP Summer Institute in AP European History is intended for new and beginning AP teachers looking to implement a successful program in their school. Enrollment is also recommended for experienced AP teachers eager to gain insight into the redesign of the course. The workshop will create an environment of mutual collaboration among participants and the instructor in order to encourage a dialogue and discussion regarding issues and concerns related to AP European History.

Participant Outcomes

- Explore Rome's history, art, and culture by taking field studies to relevant historical sites related to the content covered in the AP European History courses, like the Pantheon, Monumento Nazionale a Vittorio Emanuele II, and Mussolini's EUR
- Participate in stimulating discussions, lectures, and activities centered on the nine historical thinking skills, sixty-nine content objectives, and five themes that drive the redesigned AP* European History course
- Acquire new teaching strategies that focus on student centered instruction and obtain over 18 different sample lesson plans
- Collaborate with peers to prepare classroom material, hone historical thinking skills, and construct long term plans for the 2017-2018 school year
- Gain insight into the scoring of the exam and become familiar with texts and electronic teacher resources available for the new course
- Complete and submit your course audit
