

Nietzsche and Kantian Politics

John Cabot University, Rome, December 6-7 2013

This conference will be the sixth in a series examining Nietzsche's relation to Kant and Kantianism, each focussing on specific areas and texts of Kant's philosophy. After conferences on ethics in Leiden, aesthetics in London, epistemology in Lisbon, religion in Belo Horizonte, and anthropology in Lecce, the Rome conference will focus on Nietzsche and Kantian politics. Taking 'Kantian politics' to include modern and contemporary Kantian theories as well as Kant's own theories in his Doctrine of Right and Perpetual Peace, the conference will concern Nietzsche's engagement with such Kantian themes as autonomy and rights, equality and democracy, morality and politics, war and cosmopolitanism, history and anthropology. The format of the conferences involves the pre-circulation of papers among participants and extended sessions, so as to allow much time for discussion.

The conference is organized by Tom Bailey (tbailey@johncabot.edu) and funded by John Cabot University. There is no conference fee, but if you plan to attend, please register with Tom Bailey, who will also provide you with practical information and, at the end of November, the conference papers.

All sessions will take place at the University's Guarini campus, in Via della Lungara 233, Trastevere, Rome. The Friday morning sessions will take place in the Aula Magna, and the following sessions in the Board Room.

The program follows below.

Friday December 6

9.00	Tracy Strong (California, San Diego) 'Nietzsche, Kant and Wagner: Revisiting the Birth of Tragedy '
10.30	Coffee break
11.00	Hugo Drochon (Cambridge) 'Great Politics or Perpetual Peace? Nietzsche and Kant on Europe's Future'
12.30	Lunch, Tiber cafeteria
2.00	Frederick Neuhouser (Barnard-Columbia) 'Autonomy and Spiritual Illness'
3.30	Coffee break
4.00	Andrew Huddleston (Oxford) 'Nietzsche on Decadence and its Remedies'
5.30	Break
6.00- 7.30	Martine Prange (Leiden) 'The Role of "Creative Conflict" in Human Development'

Saturday December 7

9.00	David Owen (Southampton) 'Freedom, Self-Respect and Agonism: Kant, Nietzsche and Political Philosophy'
10.30	Coffee break
11.00- 12.30	Andrew Benjamin (Monash/Kingston) 'Too Early for Tranquility: The Limits of Epicurus'