

JOHN CABOT UNIVERSITY

Institute for Creative Writing and Literary Translation

presents

A Reading by Marianne Boruch

Marianne Boruch's eight poetry collections include the recent Cadaver, Speak, and The Book of Hours, a Kingsley-Tufts Poetry Award winner. Her prose includes two essay collections, In the Blue Pharmacy and Poetry's Old Air, and a memoir, The Glimpse Traveler. Her work has appeared in The New Yorker, Poetry, London Review of Books, American Poetry Review, The Nation and elsewhere. She's been a Guggenheim and NEA Fellow, had residencies at Yaddo, MacDowell, and the Bellagio Center. A 2012 Fulbright Professor in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1987, she established and directed Purdue University's MFA Program, in which she still teaches. She's also on faculty in the Program for Writers at Warren Wilson College.

Tuesday, 17 March 2015

6:30-8:00 p.m.

Aula Magna Regina, Guarini Campus

John Cabot University, Via della Lungara 233, 00165 Rome

RSVP to: cwinstitute@johncabot.edu

You will be asked to show photo ID at the door.

Photo by Dunlap