

The JCU Institute for Entrepreneurship presents:

Andrea Latino

IT Expert and Global Shaper

25 years old specialized in all things digital: public policy, management consulting, and tech journalism. Trusted by multinational enterprises (Microsoft, Intel), government agencies (Prime Minister's Office: Agency for Digital Italy), large media companies (Il Sole 24 Ore, De Agostini), political personalities (Hon. VP. F. Mogherini, MEP B. Benifei, MP F. Bonomo) and thriving startups (Garage Italia by Lapo Elkann).

In 2011, he founded an award-winning project named GSE, a non-profit initiative that promotes public understanding of technological-environmental issues in secondary schools. Personally reported by A. Huffington among the World Economic Forum's high-potential under 30 - the "Global Shapers" - he was featured on several top newspapers (Il Corriere della Sera, Repubblica) and was invited as political commentator during national tv shows. He regularly moderates events inside institutions, universities and business conventions.

He is a TEDx speaker, a member of Audi's "Innovative Thinking" Program and was selected as "Digital Champion" for the Italian Province of Varese. He is the winner of the Special Jury Award of the 2014 National "M. Zamperini" Innovation Prize. Andrea Latino is a MPP candidate at Università Cattolica, Milan and he received a BA in International Relations from the same university.

Some of his collaborators:

Thursday, February 25th

10:00 - 11:15

Guest Speaker BUS 350

Room: Aula Magna

RSVP: entrepreneurship@johncabot.edu