

In collaboration with the Embassy of the United States of America in Italy
Under the auspices of the Italian Ministry of Education (MIUR) and in collaboration with The English Theatre of Rome

Since 2009, hundreds of JCU Italy Reads Volunteers from universities across the US have engaged in discussions in English with students of more than 60 Italian and International high schools and over 150 Italian public high school teachers.

What is Italy Reads? JCU's English language community reading and cultural exchange program. It began in 2009 with a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts for a Big Read Rome. Since 2010, it's been JCU's Italy Reads.

Italy Reads thrives on the solid foundation of cultural exchange that has developed over the years.

Read some (or all) of the work, attend a training session, and you're ready to have a unique academic experience at JCU!

Italy Reads 2022 Margaret Fuller's Summer on the Lakes in 1843

JCU students and faculty engage students and teachers in Italian high schools in discussions (in English) of American literature. Thousands of people have taken part in the program.

What will you do as an Italy Reads® Volunteer?

- visit a few Italian high schools (with other volunteers), in-person or remotely
- lead discussions (in English) about the book (You'll get some training).
- help Italian high school students
  - create 3' videos for the Video Contest (Fall volunteers)
  - conduct interviews and write about them in a digital newsletter

Give about 6 hours to the program...and gain unique experience.

By volunteering, you:

- become more integrated into the Italian community
- consider your own country and its history from within an international context
- experience how foreigners interpret American culture
- meet Italians and form friendships that might follow you through your life's travels
- receive a Certificate of Recognition for your international resume
- can contribute to your Community Service Certificate.

How do I sign up?

- Register at: <https://forms.gle/jCnAFCgSb52tEXUL8> Once in Rome, JCU will host an orientation meeting for you and the other Italy Read volunteers and guide you from there.
